

China's Silent War on America

Dear Friend,

We are happy you are back with us ready to learn more about China's Silent War on America.

Media Alert - Tune-in on Friday, May 31, 11:10 a.m. to the Always Right Radio Show with Bob Frantz. Link: <https://whkradio.com/radioshow/always-right-radio>. Author of this lesson series, China's Silent War on America, Eileen DeRolf, will be discussing this lesson series and the threats China poses to America.

If you missed Lesson 1, it would be helpful to go back since these lessons build upon each other. We believe you will find these lessons interesting and valuable.

Below is Lesson 2, "China's Goal of World Dominance Using the Belt and Road Initiative (BRI)" of the 10-week course titled, "China's Silent War on America".

Thank you in advance for doing the important action items at the end of the lesson.

Lesson 2 of a 10-Week Course, China's Goal of World Dominance Using the Belt and Road Initiative (BRI)

Now that you have watched the Lesson 1 video, you are much more aware of the dangers posed by a Communist China embedded in America. But what of the dangers Communist China is creating for America outside of America's borders? What if I told you Communist China is doing everything in its power to entice most of the countries around the world to align themselves with Communist China and against America... leaving America alone, isolated and reduced in world status? Perhaps you wouldn't believe it – or at the least could not imagine how that could happen! It is happening right now and it is called China's Belt and Road Initiative (BRI).

Please read this powerful 5-minute article to learn more about China's Belt and Road Initiative:

Article: China's Belt and Road Initiative: Boon for Growth or Threat to Civil Liberties?

After reading the article provided in this lesson, the reader should now understand that China is aggressively lending money to struggling nations in order to create new or better trade routes between China and the struggling nations. These routes extend into China and Africa and are both on land and sea.

China being China, it is unlikely the CCP is doing this because they are "nice guys" just trying to improve the economies of struggling nations. China has much to gain in these transactions. China's influence as well as its authoritarian ideology would increase within their partner nations. China would have access to routes that would allow for transport of weapons during times of war, as well as establish new locations for military bases. If the partner nations could not repay their loans to China, China may take control of the newly built infrastructure and/or resources of the partner nations. Further China's access to these nations gives it the inside track to cheap labor and resources allowing China to create a robust supply chain capable of undercutting the markets in developed countries like the U.S.

All of this would strengthen China, while allowing China to forge strong alliances with these nations possibly leading to a new world order. Either way it would appear China cannot lose. Either way China extends its power over much of the globe as it marches towards world dominance. Or does it?

There is nothing simple or guaranteed with this many balls in the air. Watch this amazing 10-minute video and decide for yourself whether you think China's big gamble will create a new world order or tank its own economy-and potentially that of the worlds.
